Hi,

I am OLU, Founder of Skills Improvement Network - the growing community for knowledge sharing.

My passion for success has led me to collaborate and add value towards career prospects in content writing, business analysis, project management, product development, and process improvement. From my struggles to understand the intricacies of software requirements, I got the real breakthrough when I devised a formula which helped me gather software requirements in a quick and easy way. Now I am empowering many others like me, using the Requirement Domination Challenge. I am on a mission to help numerous professionals move their career to the NEXT level.
